NOTES from the DEPARTMENT . . .

CONNECTICUT VEGETABLE AND SMALL FRUIT GROWERS' CONFERENCE

The University of Connecticut, the USDA, and the CT Ag Experiment Station will host the annual Connecticut Vegetable and Small Fruit Growers' Conference from 9:00 AM - 3:15 PM at the Tolland County Agricultural/Extension Center in Vernon, CT on Thursday, January 20, 2011. This will be your last chance to obtain Pesticide Applicator Re-certification Credits for the current year (2010). There will be 3.5 hours of re-certification credits available. Registration is $30 and includes lunch and coffee/donuts. There is no pre-registration necessary. Registration at the door for the trade show and conference starts at 8:00 AM and the educational talks start at 9:00 AM.

This conference usually attracts about 150 of your fellow growers. Come and socialize with them and see why they find this conference entertaining as well as educational.

- * Trade Show (opens at 8:00 AM, continues during break & lunch)
- * Welcome – Jiff Martin, Sustainable Food Systems, UConn Extension
- * CT Agricultural Business Management Guide – Joe Bonelli, UConn Extension
- * Phytophthora Moves to Beans – Jim LaMondia, CT Ag Experiment Station
- * Spice up Your Market with Novel Cucurbit Varieties – Brent Loy, UNH
- * Solving the Cover Crop Puzzle – Steve Groff, Cedar Meadows Farm, Holtwood, PA
- * Pre- and Post-Harvest Considerations for Maximum Quality in Squash– Brent Loy, UNH
- * Raspberry Pruning and Training – Nate Nourse, Nourse Farms, Whately, MA
- * High Tunnels: Strategies for Long Term Tomato Production - Steve Groff, Cedar Meadows Farm
- * Winter Moth: a New Destructive Blueberry Pest – Heather Faubert, URI Extension
- * Mixed Vegetable Production on Stone Garden Farms – Fred & Stacia Monahan, Stone Garden Farms, Shelton, CT

* Moving to Deep Zone Tillage – Jude Boucher, UConn Extension
Directions: Exit 67 off I-84, North on Rt. 31 to intersection with Rt. 30, 1/10 mile east on Rt. 30.

The University of Connecticut is an equal opportunity program provider and employer. Please call two weeks prior to this event if special accommodations are needed.

DOAG JOINT VENTURE GRANTS

The Department of Agriculture will accept applications for the CT Grown Joint Venture Grant Program from January 1 through January 31, 2011.

This popular program offers matching funds for marketing projects that use the CT Grown logo or slogan. Eligible projects include signage, advertisements, billboards, brochures, websites, etc. This competitive program is open to producers and agricultural nonprofits. Awards will be announced in February 2011.

The guidelines, application, and state forms can be downloaded from the Department of Agriculture website, www.ctgrown.gov, click on Programs and Services, then CT Grown Joint Venture Grants. You can also call 860-713-2503 to have a copy of the information emailed to you.

ANNUAL PRODUCT AWARDS COMPETITION

The CT Specialty Food Association's Annual Product Awards Competition will be held on Thursday, 2/17/11, at the Aqua Turf in Plantsville. This year's categories include many that are farm friendly, such as cheese; certified organic product; CT Grown product; CT wine; fruit or vegetable; jam/honey/syrup/sweet topping; meat/pate/fish; and more. Contact Tricia at 860-677-8097 or tricia@ctfoodassociation.org for a complete list of categories, competition guidelines, and/or registration forms. Registration deadline is 2/7/11.

FARM-TO-CHEF ANNUAL MEETING

The 2011 Farm-to-Chef Annual Meeting will be held from 8:30 AM to 4:00 PM on Monday, 1/31/11, at the Saybrook Point Inn and Spa. All existing and potential new FTC members are encouraged to attend this fun and productive day of presentations, discussion, networking, and, of course, CT Grown food. There is no charge to attend but REGISTRATION IS REQUIRED by midnight on Monday, 1/17/11. Register on Survey Monkey at <http://www.surveymonkey.com/s/RHHHW32>.

USDA SURVEY TO FOCUS ON FARM LABOR

Concord, NH – How many workers are employed on agricultural operations in New England? Have farm labor jobs and wages been affected by the current economy? These are some of the key questions the U.S. Department of Agriculture's National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS) hopes to shed light on through the January Agricultural Labor Survey.

"Now more than ever, labor issues are a concern in every industry and every community – including New England's agricultural industry and rural communities," explained Gary Keough, director of the NASS New England Field Office. "The Agricultural Labor Survey is very timely because it provides vital data that affect the agricultural labor force and farmers and their bottom lines."

Statistics from the Agricultural Labor Survey are used by USDA and the Department of Labor to establish minimum wage rates for agricultural workers, administer farm labor recruitment and placement service programs, and assist legislators in determining labor policies.

During the last two weeks of January, NASS will contact selected New England farm operators and ask them to provide information on their total number of hired workers, hours worked, and wage rates paid during that week. For their convenience, survey participants have the option of responding online.

NASS will compile, analyze and publish survey results in the quarterly Farm Labor report, to be released on February 17, 2011.

"We strongly encourage participation in this survey. Only farmers can provide the accurate information needed to build the foundation for reliable agricultural labor estimates," said Keough.

As with all NASS surveys, information provided by respondents is confidential by law. "NASS safeguards the confidentiality of all responses, ensuring that no individual operation or producer can be identified," stated Keough. All reports are available on the NASS web site: www.nass.usda.gov. For more information on NASS surveys and reports, call the NASS New England Field Office at 1-800-642-9571.

NRCS NOW ACCEPTING APPLICATIONS TO RESTORE AND PROTECT FARMLANDS, WETLANDS, AND GRASSLANDS

TOLLAND, CT— Connecticut State Conservationist for the USDA-Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) Jay T. Mar has announced the sign-up period for three of the agency's conservation programs – the Farm and Ranch Lands Protection Program (FRPP), the Wetlands Reserve Program (WRP), and the Grassland Reserve Program (GRP).

"Applications are currently being accepted for all three programs," said Mar. "However, the cutoff date for this year's funding is February 28, 2011."

FRPP helps protect agricultural lands by limiting non-agricultural uses. NRCS partners with approved state, local, and non-profit entities who arrange for the purchase of development rights through conservation easements on private lands. The entity holds and manages these conservation easements in perpetuity.

WRP offers landowners the opportunity to protect, restore, and enhance wetlands on their property that have been in agriculture. NRCS provides technical and financial support to help landowners with their wetland restoration and protection efforts. WRP offers landowners an opportunity to establish long-term conservation and wildlife practices and protection through purchasing conservation easements and/or restoration agreements.

GRP offers landowners and eligible entities the opportunity to protect, restore, and enhance grasslands on their property. The program, implemented by NRCS and the Farm Service Agency, helps landowners restore and protect grassland and pastureland. GRP will conserve vulnerable grasslands from conversion to cropland or other uses and conserve important grasslands by helping maintain viable farming operations through purchasing conservation easements or rental contracts.

For more information, visit www.ct.nrcs.usda.gov/programs, or contact your nearest NRCS Field Office: Brooklyn - (860) 774-0224; Hamden- (203) 287-8038; Norwich - (860) 887-3604; Torrington - (860) 626-8258; and Windsor - (860) 688-7725.

NEW MARKETING OPPORTUNITIES FROM THE CONNECTICUT COMMISSION ON CULTURE & TOURISM:

- CCT Marketing Grants Available for 2011

Connecticut Tourism Moving Forward 2011

More than 300 culture and tourism representatives participated in the Connecticut Tourism Moving Forward 2011 & CCT Marketing Grant Workshops recently held throughout the state. Thanks to the properties that donated meeting space and all those who made the time to attend and learn about the new CTvisit.com website (launching in early 2011), new Partner Content Management System (CMS) and marketing grant programs offered by the Commission for 2011. The Connecticut Tourism Moving Forward 2011 & CCT Grant Workshop presentation is available for viewing on the Commission's website. Contact Rose, rosemary.bove@ct.gov or 860-256-2725 for more information on CCT's programs and services.

CCT Marketing Grants Available for 2011

CCT's marketing grants program supports statewide marketing opportunities for Connecticut's culture and tourism constituents in order to increase attendance and visitation to Connecticut destinations, increase overnight stays, and extend state and regional branding efforts. Marketing Challenge Grants and Cooperative Marketing Grants are offered for 2011.

Cooperative Marketing Grants are offered for the following options:

- New online advertising campaign;
- Magazine style free standing insert (FSI), with interactive elements for the spring/summer and fall/winter; and
- Out of home billboard advertising.

The guidelines and application materials for these competitive grants are posted on the Commission's website www.cultureandtourism.org. Deadline for applying for a Cooperative Marketing Grant is January 5, 2011 and January 12, 2011 for a Marketing Challenge Grant. Contact Rena Calcaterra, rena.calcaterra@ct.gov or 860-256-2744, for more information.
